Financial institutions

Financial institutions and financial service companies across the globe continue to face the challenges of low interest rates, meagre economic growth, regulatory scrutiny and ever evolving sophisticated fraud techniques. At the same time the insurance market has never had more capital, meaning that risk transfer solutions are more commercially attractive and coverage is broader than ever before.

Never before has there been such high-level focus on the role, methodology and efficacy of specialty insurances for financial organisations. Increased scrutiny leads in turn to a need for greater expertise on the part of an institution's advisors and here we believe Rossborough Professional Risks together with their parent Arthur J. Gallagher can add particular value. Our dedicated Financial Institutions team comprises in excess of 20 members and offers advice, design and execution services for a wide range of both standard and bespoke products, addressing the broad range of crime and liability risks faced by financial services businesses and their directors and officers. We believe that the following differentiate us from our peers:

- A team of specialists dedicated to the needs of Financial Institutions
- Relationships with all insurers globally, to access the most competitive solutions
- Efficient facilities providing broad coverage and competitive premiums
- Bespoke solutions and innovative cover, driven by our product development specialists
- Integrated claims service ensuring effective claims settlement
